Dear Parent/Carer

Police School Liaison Officer

As part of Kent Police's Uplift programme every school in Kent and Medway has been allocated a named School Liaison Officer who are serving Police Constables but who are now in the full-time role of supporting schools. The officers will be a point of contact for young people to talk to and seek advice from, to support schools in delivering bespoke intervention schemes and to offer advice to parents if there are any concerns regarding criminality or safeguarding issues. They will also support schools with their behaviour management policies and meet with students where there has been a concern that may require sanction and could ordinarily require school to make contact with the police.

We are pleased to inform you that our named School Liaison Officer is PC Andy Simpson who will be coming in one day a week from Term 5 and will be based in the Learning Domain. He is looking forward to meeting students and families and becoming part of the Northfleet School for Girls community. Students will see him around during break and lunchtimes and we are looking to arrange a drop-in session where students can speak with him in confidence should they wish to. If parents would like to speak with him about any concerns, they are welcome to email in to school using email address of SchoolLiaisonOfficer@nsfg.org.uk and information will be passed on to him.

Yours faithfully

Mr C Norwood
